Repeal of the Federal Elections Bill.

Cleveland's Hawaiian Policy Receives Support.

The Democratic Resolution Finds a Way Through.

Opposed by His Own Party—A Second Vote on McCreary's

By Telegraph to The Times WASHINGTON, Feb. 7-(By the ssociated Press.) The bill repealing in toto all Federal laws regulating the control of Congressional elections has passed both houses of Congress and nly awaits the signature of the President to become a law. After several weeks' discussion the Senate today finally came to a vote on the House bill repealing the Federal election laws and passed it by a vote of 39 to 28. A number of amendments were pre sented by Republicans, but they were voted down, the Democrats not even taking the trouble to join in the depate on the amendatory proposition.

Senator Stewart of Nevada voted with the Democrats on every proposition, giving as his reason that he thought the power of the Executive was already too great and that the centralzing tendency of the age should be checked at once if the republic is to survive.

Three Populists, Senators Allen, Kyle and Peffer also voted with the Democrats on every amendment and on the main bill. The measure, as it passed the Senate, is identical with the bill as it passed the House

By a vote of 175 to 57 the House to day adopted a resolution condemning Minister Stevens and sustaining the Hawaiian policy of Cleveland. The Republicans filibustered against it to the end. Upon the first vote the reso-lution was carried, yeas, 174; nays, 3, and an interesting parliamentary ques-tion was raised as to whether 177, instead of 179, was not a quorum, four seats being vacant on account of deaths. The Speaker held that a ma-jority of members chosen and living constituted a quorum, quoting in sup port of his position a review of the subject made by the Speaker in the Fig. 17-first Congress. His position, however, was warmly assalled by some Democratic members, and it was finally agreed to take the vote over again, so the ruling was eventually with-drawn.

Mr. Boutelle's resolution feated by a strictly party vote. After voting upon the resolutions had been completed Mr. Bland made an atbeen completed Mr. Bland made an at-tempt to get up the bill for the coinage of the silver seigniorage. The Eastern Democrats, led by Gen. Tracey and Representative Cockran, inaugurated fillbustering, in which they were joined by a majority of the Republicans, al-though a few of the latter indicated by their votes that they favored con sideration of the bill, and for four hours Mr. Bland and the remainder of the Democrats were held at bay. Finding it impossible to secu quorum to proceed with the considera-tion of the bill and that the House night be dead-locked indefinitely upor efforts toward securing the adoption o a resolution to revoke all leaves of absence and to instruct the sergeant at-arms to arrest the absentees. After a persistent struggle, which lasted until o'clock, Mr. Bland was successful and the resolution passed. In order to make it still more effective the order was made to continue until vacated by the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) SENATE.—Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania presented a number of petitions against the

Sensitor Cameron also presented an amendment to the bill, postponing till January 1, 1896, the date for it to go into Senator Dolph presented a resolution reciting that the Finance Committee had a refused a hearing on the tarifi bill, and directing that all memorials and protests presented to that commit-tee and the Senate be printed as Sen-ate documents. It went over, and the Federal Floations Bill was taken up. Senator Hoar took the floor against it. Senator Gray, replying to Senator Hoar, said the election laws had in every instance promoted and aggravated frauds instead of abating them In the course of the colloquy between Senator Gray and Senator Hoar, the latter alluded to the election of 1876, when the elections in New York were fair because of the operation and ef-fect of these very laws. Senator Gray retorted by reading from a report cited by Hoar another extract alleging whole-sale frauds in Philadelphia in the same year, when the entire local and national government was in the hands of the Republicans.

Sensitor Cameron interrupted, and, after calling again for the reading of the passage referred to said: "I hap-pened to have a good deal of knowledge of the election of 1876. I was Secretary of War, as the Sensitor will remember. The elections in Pennsylvania that year were as honest as the elections in any part of the world. They have been hon-est, and always will be, because we are an honest people, but there were some an honest people, but there were some elections that year which were not so honest, and, as Secretary of War, I had to interfere. The result was that tional government was in the hands of

Tilden did not became President of the United States." (Laughter.) In opposing the bill, Senator Allison said he had examined the Democratic national platform and had not found the # demand for the repeal of this law which ome Senators had alleged to exist Senator Daniels, alluding to the in answer to a question by Senator Hill, that he had received $6000 or $8000 from Union League members to be used in election prosecutions.

After a few remarks by Secretary Chandler, Senator Bate took the floor in favor of the bill, and at the conclusion of Mr. Bate's remarks Mr. Chandler pre sented an amendment which provided that only such of the existing election laws as provided for deputy marshals at elections be repealed. The yeas and nays being demanded the amendment was defeated by a vote of 27 to 40, Senator Stewart and Senators Allen Kyle, and Peffer (Pop.) voting with the Democrats.

Senator Chandler then presented an amendment, the effect of which was to apply the repeal sections of the bill to supervisors and deputy marshals, but to leave on the statute books the "crime

"I hope this amendment will be satisfactory to the other side," said Sen-ator Chandler. "By it the various sec-tions of the existing law providing for marshals and supervisors will be re-pealed, but we shall still have the crimes act and crimes against suffrage in connection with Congressional elections will still be punishable under the United States statutes and in the United States courts.' Again the yeas and nays were de-manded and this amendment, too, was defeated, the vote being 27 to 38. Another amendment was presented by Senator Chandler to restrict the scope of the repeal by retaining a still smaller number of "crimes" provisions, but it was likewise rejected, 28 to 39.

Senator Chandler then presented an amendment designed to retain certain provisions of the act of May 31, 1870, and to this amendment, he said, he asked the special attention of Senator

Stewart. "After the Senator from Nevada," said Mr. Chandler, "had succeeded as the grand champion of freedom in the Senate chamber in securing the adop tion of the Fifteenth Amendment to the Constitution, he followed it by the passage of this statute. He declared then that the constitutional amend-ment was worthless. Congress made a law to enforce it. Does he intend to contribute his vote here to strike down a portion of one of the greatest and noblest acts of his life?"

"At the time the bill passed," said Senator Stewart, "we had just passed through a civil war. Many things were necessary then that are not now. The States must assert their rights; they must be upon the side of the people. I don't think they have any protection against the Federal government. Any social law that might be supplante by a State law, I want to see wiped from the statute books." The ment was rejected by a vote of 28 to

Senator Perkins of California offered an amendment making the Federal election law applicable to cities of 200,00 or over instead of to cities of 20,000 or over as provided by the existing laws. The amendment was rejected, 27 to 39 and several other amendments next presented by Mr. Chandler were re-lected by a viva voce vote. A vote was then taken on the passage of the bill at 6 o'clock and the repeal was adopted by a vote of 39 yeas, 28 nays, as fol-Yeas-Senators Allen, Bate, Berry of today's session were that a Demo-cratic quorum would be secured to pass the McCreary resolution condemning Minister Stevens and approving the course of President Cleveland in de-claring against annexation or the as-sumption of a protectorate over Ha-Ex-Speaker Reed renewed the filibustering by making the point of order that the adjournment last night did not vacate the proceedings under the call of the House to enforce the attendance of absent members, and that the only thing in order was the report of the Sergenat-at-arms, or if the chair held that al proceedings terminated by the adjournment, it also vacated the order revoking the leaves-of-absence. The Speaker overruled the point of order, holding that all proceedings under the call termin-ated with adjournment, and that the order revoking the leaves of absence executed itself.

The roll was then called on the pas sage of the McCreary resolution. The Republicans refrained from voting Republicans refrained from voting, and the Democrats failed to muster a quorum, the vote standing 174 to 3.

Mr. Springer made the point of order that as there were four vacant seats, 177 instead of 179 members should constitute a quorum. After some debate the point of order was surviving and the resolution was desustained, and the resolution was de clared passed.

Those who voted in the negative were Representatives Daniel of New York, and Adams of Pennsylvania, both Republicans, and Representative Cummings of New York, a Democrat. After some sharp sparring between Mr. der, it was by unanimous consent or-cided to have another roll-call, and the Speaker withdrew his former decision. When it became apparent on the sec-ond roll-call that the Democrats would have a quorum, the Republicans voted against the resolution. It passed by a vote of 177 to 75.

Mr. Boutelle's Hawaiian resolution was lost by a vote of 91 to 191.

By Telegraph to The Times RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 12 .- (Copy righted, 1894, by Cable and Associated Press.) The comparative quiet which has prevailed for ten days was interrupted yesterday by an encounter between the Aquidaban and the forts. followed by an attack by the rebel fleet's and batteries upon the shore defences of the city. Later in the day another fight took place at Santa Ana and Ponta da Areia. All of the fighting, however, only resulted in the killing of four men and the mortally wounding of a fifth. The loss of the rebels is not known. The arrival of the Aquidaban was something of a surprise to all. The night of January 11 was unusually cold. Under cover of fog the Aquidaban approached and was almost under the shadow of Fort Santa Cruz before she was seen. This was at 4:20 a. m. Instantly firing began from Fort Santa Cruz and a moment later Fort St. ohn joined in the fight. Little Fort Baje, further inside the bay, also sent her quota to increase the hail of missiles, which rattled around the daring Aquidaban. At that range, however, not a shot reached the mark, and with out deigning to reply the big black ship silently passed on into the narrow channel between the fortresses.

Fort Santa Cruz, not 300 yards away from the Aquidaban, worked her guns furiously, sending a plunging fire down ipon the decks of the warship. Fort St. John, a mile away, sent its heaviest projectiles against the rebel ship's iside, while Fort Lage swept her decks with a raking fire. The ship could hardly be subjected to a more severe test and the Aquidaban was ap-parently uninjured. The Aquidabaran, although struck heavily several times, was practically unhurt and not a sin-gle shot, either from her batteries or from Fort Villegagnon, struck anyone of the government forts. Later, the Guanabara, one of the rebel torpedo-cruisers, opened fire at 5:30 o'clock a.m., on the shore batteries erected to protect the customhouse on Coloras Is-land and cruiser Trajano joined the Guanabara, and still later the Libertad, withDa Gama's flag flying, also came into action. The latter, however, con-tented herself with firing three heavy projectiles, which passed over the re defenses and buried themselves in the heart of the city.

The only fatalties reported were caused by the explosion in the city of heavy shell fired by the Guanabara, which killed four men, namely: Pedre Mainetti, a policeman; Manuel de Jesus Gadarela, a shoemaker; Americo Duarte, an apothecary, and Manuel Gonzalez de Silva, a medical student.

The firing ceased after a time, only to be renewed at 3 o'clock p.m., against Santa Ana and Pont da Areia, where it was replied to by the bat teries there and at Madama and Do Vellio. The action was desultory, lit-tle damage being done. Later in the evening a few more shots were fired into the city, and an

CHICAGO, Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) Zella Nicholaus, who became notorious through her alleged dealings with George Gould, had a lively time with a constable at the Victoria Hotel today. Al Ruhman, said to be her husband, was also mixed up in the row.

The last time that Zella and Ruh-

Learning yesterday that they were again in the city, and stopping at the Victoria Hotel as Mr. and Mrs. King of Cleveland, he promptly took out an attachment.

This morning, when the constable appeared, Ruhman said he would like to ettle, but had only $47 in cash. The constable threatened to the lady's wardrobe, which lay exposed in the open trunks. Zella protested vigorously, and Ruhman intimated to the constable that he would be compelled to shoot if the officer did not make himself scarce. The constable make himself scarce. Riotous Strikers in Conflict With Russian Troops.

Pitched Battle in Which Some on Bot Sides Were Killed-The Government's Foes Actively at Work

By Telegraph to The Times PERM, (Russia) Feb. 7.-(By Cable and Associated Press.) A riot occurred at the large iron works at Mizhnee Taghilsk in the Ural Mountains which was participated in by 5000 workmen. The strike was on account of low wages and a Nihilist propaganda. The cal authorities were unable to cope with the disturbance and a large force of troops was sent to the scene.

A pitched battle ensued in which many rioters were killed and a number of soldiers shot or stoned to death. The troops were finally repulsed and were forced to fortify themselves while reinforcements were sent for. When these arrived the attack was renewed after killing many more.

It is said that Nihilists are urging their propaganda in many parts of the empire and that the government is compelled to take energetic measures to suppress it.

By Telegraph to The Times.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 7.—(By the Asociated Press.) The treasury balance today is stated to be $117,115,325, the first time it has been above the $100,-000,000 mark for several months. This is accounted for solely by the payments of subscriptions for the new 5-per cent. bonds. Of this increase $28,656,294 is gold and $5,863,140 cur-

The total amount to be received at the sub-treasury here out of $59,000,000 (round figures,) which the government will receive (principal and premium) altogether for the bonds is about $49,000,000. Just how much of the $34,500,000 gold already received here is new gold, that is gold that has not been previously withdrawn from the sub-treasury by the redemption of greenbacks for the purpose of paying for the bonds, the treasury officials are not able to say today. It has been noticed, however, during the last few days, that the redemption of greenbacks has been unusually heavy, as much as $1,000,000 having been presented for that purpose in one lot.

So far from suffering any serious drain of its gold, the treasury is likely rather to be used as a dumping ground for an over-supply which seems to have become burdensome to many banks. Signs abound that in so larger cities it will be a positive relief to get a plethora of gold reduced. Offers have been made lately from several quarters of all gold the treasury would accept in exchange for paper of any sort, even silver certificates. The trouble is that the supply of paper is

They revel in a warm, moist and equitable climate, and are now found in the highest state of luxurkance on the low banks of the Amazon, where they rival palms in shape and often attain to the height of 100 feet. More than three thousand species are now known, of which the Philippine Islands alone furnish 300, and Java and Southeastern Africa 400. Collectors on the United States cruiser Albatross brought thirteen species from the sterile shores of Southern Patagonia. These have been named by Prof. D. C. not have been secured by any other means.

"Second—An interest has been aroused in horticultural and entomological subjects in all parts of the State, resulting in wise and ample legislation, which has been followed by the States of Washington and Oregon. Twenty-eight counties now have horticultural commissioners. Annual conventions of the commissioners of the State are held, and more frequent meetings of the northern and southern sections for the purpose of discussing the best means of dealing with the problems which arise in the discharge of our duties and adopting, as nearly as may be, uniform methods of carrying them into effect. Under these stimulating influences county ordinances, framed on

Under these stimulating influences county ordinances, franced on the same lines as that of this clunty, have been passed by nearly all the fruit-growing counties, and vigorous measures have been adopted for the suppression of injurious insects and for the examination and quarantining of nursery stock before shipment, so that we now have, "Third—A free and healthy movement under proper regulations of the cleanest nursery stock known for years."

The galient features of this report, which is a very interesting and comprehensive one, compiled by W. E. Collins of Ontario, secretary of the board, are embraced in the following synopsis:

During the past year the grape vine flea beetle made its first appearance in considerable numbers in the San Bernardino Valley. In Grapeland and Rialto it did much damage and vigilance will be necessary to eradicatt it. The vines have been healthy except for the presence of some of the "vine disease." the presence of some of the "vine disease." This has not increased during the year.

A wave of black scale swept into the county upon the extreme west and proved so aggressive as to make the kerosese emulsion and resin wash seem but of little value in checking it. The gas treatment should be resorted to here. There is little or no black scale in the eastern part of the valley. The rizobius ventralis have been colonized upon many infested trees in the westupon many infested trees in the west rizobius ventralis have been colonized upon many infested trees in the western part of the county, but it is too soon to tell the effect they will have. The brown, or soft orange scale, has been plentiful in the eastern part of the valley, but have succumbed to the emusion and resin treatments. One case of red scale has been found and treated with hydrocyanic acid gas. The cottony cushion scale is not feared.

The codling moth has increased on pears and apples, but there is less of the pernicious scale. Prune scales have appeared in places. The salt, lime and sulphur treatment has been found a preventive of curl leaf in the peach. There is a general improvement in deciduous orchards. A colony of mealy bugs has been found and is being treated, but nothing has yet been found that is effectual. Some purple scale was found upon some Florida stock, but was destroyed.

A fungiis has been found in several orchards in Cucamonga and is likely to prove very serious. The Department of Agriculture has treated the disease in its report for 1892, and a remedy is given which will be of great service. The gum disease still gives trouble in some sections, but seems to have increased none in this county. The cause or cure are not yet known.

A WORD ABOUT PUNS. Were Once in Favor but of Late Years Have

Were Once in Favor but of Late Years Have Died Out.

(James Payn, in London News). There was a time when, among a higher class, puns were considered good fan. Once and away they may be so. In my youth I used to make puns myself occasionally, perhaps two in a year, till a critic in a famous literary organ denounced a novel of mine as being "full of puns." It was a somewhat hasty generalization, for there was but one in it, but it was evidently more than enough. I gave puns up and took to other literary recreations. So you see it can be done.

In the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table" there is a denunciation of puns (made with a view, I fear, of introducing to our notice some particularly fine specimens,) but there is no longer any need for a reproof of this practice; thanks to education it has almost disappeared. The same thing has happened with rhymed epigrams. In the beginning of the century a good joke was not considered presentable till it was put into verse—a fashion probably borrowed from the classics. Greek epigrams are almost always in verse, and very amusing—in Greek; but they are apt to suffer in translation. You can never, I am told, get the delicate aroma of the aorist except, as it were, in the wood. Well, epigrams have gone and puns have gone, and why not practical jokes?

If people were only taught early enough how sinful, and especially how stupid, they are, they would die out. Of course, you must not lay a finger upon a board-school boy, the sacred son of a B.W.; but if he is detected sharpening a slate pencil with a view of causing his form companion, when he has done standing in class, to sit down upon it, he should be reasoned with and taught the elements of true humor. At present the great mass of our fellow-countrymen know nothing of this, or they would not laugh at the pantomimes, and the lower we go in the social stage the lower we find their sense of fun.

The Orchards and Vineyards of the Salt River Valley-A Very Encouraging Out-look for the Fruit Industry.

pecial Correspondence of The Times

PHOENIX, Feb. 6.-A drive through the orchards and vineyards of the Salt River Valley at this season is of par-ticular interest as showing the condition of trees and vines after the coldest winter weather which occurs here dur-ing December and January. Having just returned from an inspection of some of the largest fruit districts in the valley, your correspondent is prepared to state that, if the present season is taken as a criterion, there is no reason from a climatic standpoint why fruit-growing should not succeed. And this has not been an exceptional season in the matter of temperature. At a distance of six to nine miles from Phoenix are orange orchards ranging in age from 1 to 4 years that are in a thrift; condition, the tender leaves showing but slight effects of the Christmas frost. Near the falls on the Arizona Canal, at an altitude of about one thousand three hundred feet, is a bearing orchard where a few oranges have been left on the trees. This fruit is very bright in the color, and of a fine flavor. Here the its color, and of a fine flavor. Here the crop is picked from the trees in November before any severe frosts are likely to occur. But as an experiment of its keeping quality the fruit remaining on the trees is a decided success. Not only are the orange trees in prime condition, but all classes of fruit grown show what the possibilities are when receiving the proper cultivation. Almonds, olives, figs, peaches and apricot orchards are among the leading va-rieties grown, and the fruit buds now cot orchards are among the leading varieties grown, and the fruit buds now developing promise an abundant harvest. Apricots ripen in May, and peaches follow early thereafter, according to the variety produced.

From an examination of the olive trees, there seems no room for doubt as to the success of this fruit. The trees are very thrifty and perfectly free from any of the scale pests, which cause so much annoyance and expense to the California orchardist. The same holds true thus far respecting all fruit trees grown throughout Arizona. Considerable attention will be given this spring to the planting of olives, and orchards planted to orange and almond trees alternately seem destined to become as popular and necessary here as the same method with walnuts and oranges in the Santa Ana Valley.

While the fruit-growing industry is still in its infancy in Arizona, enough has already been achieved to demonstrate its success. From the young orchards and vineyards in bearing in the Salt River Valley the output for the last year was: Raisins, 225,580 pounds; dried fruit, 20,569 pounds; and green grapes, 24,000 pounds. These figures cover only shipments to points outside the Territory, and do not include what was utilized by home consumers.

No factor in the development of Ari-success. In spite of the magnitude of the undertaking, hand times and past failure, a company is about to incorporate with the determination to carry this storage system to a successful completion. It is in the hands of practical and efficient promotors whose integests are identical with those of the people to be benefited and their definite progress will be watched with general interest.

To those who regard Arizona as only a wild and uncultivated domain it may be of interest to know that this Territory in matters educational is a striking example of the American idea of what constitutes civilization and progress. The public schools and system of free education are equal to any State in the Union (and yet Arizona is not a State.)

The schools are maintained by a direct tax-levied on the people at the rate of 15 cents on the hundred dollars of taxable property. Besides this the several counties are authorized to levy not to exceed 80 cents on the hundred dollars. Arizona has the distinction of paying more money, per capita, for the education of her children than any not to exceed 80 cents on the hundred dollars. Arizona has the distinction of paying more money, per capita, for the education of her children than any other State or Territory except California and Dakota, the rate being $12 for each census child. Not only are these significant facts as based upon the number of census children, but it is further of credit to know that Arizona pays more per capita for children in actual attendance at school than any Northern, Eastern or Southern State, the amount being $38.68.

Referring to the foregoing statements respecting the educational status of Arizona, the bearing they have on admission to statehood is suggested. In the intelligence of its people and in the extent of character and material wealth of its resources are to be found the elements necessary to constitute a commonwealth capable of splendid achievements and great development. Conversation with her thinking citizens leads to the conclusion that these are the most influential considerations in determining the question of becoming a State rather than politics. Give us, they say, statehood, and the best energies of a patriotic people will be aroused to build up here in this sunkissed land a commonwealth that shall become the home of thousands of the best citizens of the older States.

THE CRYSTAL PALACE.

low Paxton Started the Idea of Such a Vast Structure.

(Sala, in London Telegraph:) Looking at the many half-crowns and shillings with which I have parted in order to be able to enjoy a cigar without official interference I can scarcely withhold some slight sympathy from the railway guards, whose supplementary emoluments have been so cruelly out down by the introduction of smoking carriages. Oddly enough, a sur-

out down by the introduction of smoking carriages. Oddly enough, a surreptitious railway cigar plays a little part in the history of the great exhibition of 1851. Charles Dickens was never tired of telling a story in which the chief actors were Joseph Paxton, king of gardeners, and Robert Stephenson, the illustrious engineer.

Paxton was oh the board of directors of a railway company, and had been attending a meeting at Derby. There was a great talk at the time about the competition for designs for the exhibition buildings in Hyde Park, and in the intervals of business Paxton sketched on a piece of blotting paper his first idea of an exhibition palace, which was practically a great green. his first idea of an exhibition phase, which was practically a great green-house of iron and glass, in shape resembling three immensely long packing-cases, superimposed on each other, and diminishing in breadth and length ing-cases, superimposed on each other, and diminishing in breadth and length as they ascended.

The meeting over, Paxton returned to town, taking his blotting-paper sketch with him. In a first-class rall-way compartment his met Robert Stephenson. The absorbing topic of the day, that of the exhibition buildings, swiftly arose, and Paxton produced his sketch and showed it to the great engineer. Before glancing at it, the mighty builder of railway bridges, who was an inveterate smoker, lighted a cigar. "It's wonderful, it's astonishing," cried Robert Stephenson, in honest admiration, "it is the only design that can possibly be accepted; only, as regards its form, it wants something, but I cannot exactly tell what that something is. I am an engineer and not an architect. This sketch must be shown to Charles Barry."

The sketch, or rather an elaborate drawing of Paxton's design, was submitted to the distinguished architect of the Houses of Parliament, who, fully sharing the admiration expressed by Robert Stephenson, said quietly: "It only wants a transept." A transept was added and the Crystal Palace was born.

Rules for Introductions.

(Philadelphia Times.) When introductions are made it is sometimes very perplexing to the uninitiated to know just what to do in the marter of handshaking. For the benefit of the uninformed these rules are given:

A lady never extends her hand to a man whose acquaintance she is making. She may or may not shake hands with a lady who is introduced, but she must not give her hand to a strange man. A low bow is the elegant form of salutation. A cultivated woman will not shake hands with any man, no matter how long she is acquainted with him, unless she respects and admires him. A gentleman never extends his hand to a lady first. To do so would be presumptuous, and subject him to snubbing. A man shows his breeding the way he eats his dinner; a woman shows her breeding by the way she receives

Judge Clark's Ruling in the Pratt-Mansfield Matter.

He Sustained the Demurrer to the Complaint.

Scorge W. Cook Petitions to Recover His Right Name-The Maldonado Case Almost Concluded in Department One.

To accompany the order made sustaining the demurrer to the complain in the case of Annie Pratt et al. vs. Anah Mansfield and John Mansfield et al. Judge Clark has prepared an opin-ion in which he fully reviews the points at issue and in dispute, stating for making the order

After E. L. Campbell had been appointed guardian of Mrs. Pratt the suit to obtain an injunction, restraining the Mansfields from drawing out of the Farmers' and . Merchants' Bank any part of the $18,881.92 on deposit there and the bank from paying out such money until the courts should decide the matter as to whether or not an accounting in Mrs. Pratt's estate should be made by the defendants, was ommenced. To the complaint the decurrer was interposed, it being prayed nat the temporary injunction be dissolved. While sustaining the demurrer Judge Clark did not dissolve the injunction, but gave leave to the plain-tiffs to amend, which has been done, the substance of the revised document having been published in The Times substance of the revised document having been published in The Times Tuesday.

The opinion as filed yesterday in Department Two reads as follows:

"A motion to strike out certain portions of the complaint and a motion to dissolve a temporary injunction herein are submitted together.

"The motion to strike out the allegations contained in the third and fourth paragraphs of the complaint must be granted. The right to recover the money and property alleged to have been fraudulently obtained by defendants from the incompetent puloitiff rests in that plaintiff, and who, in the event of her death, would be entitled, under the statutes of succession to succeed to her estate, is not now material. The allegations therefore contained in said paragraphs and alleging who are said plaintiffs next of kin are irrevelant and redundant and should be stricken out. The case of Ferrine vs. Marsden, (34 Cal. 17,) cited, is not at all in point. This is not an action to restrain waste, and neither the daughter nor grandcaillern of said plaintiff are the owners of any remainder or reversion or have any claim to or vested interest in the property involved.

"The demurrer is upon the greends involved.

"The demurrer is upon the ground:

(a) that the somolitat Joses not state a cause of action; (b) that it is untilizate ous and uncertain; (c) that there is a misjoinder of parties plaintiff. The complaint, while loosely and inartificially drawn, states, I think a cause of action properly cognizable in a court of equity. It was the gathered from the complaint, the allegations of which for the purposes of the demu. rer must, of course, be taken to be true, that the plaintiff, Annie A. Print was, on January 6, 1894, adjudged an incompetent person and a guardian of her person and estate duly appointed; that for two years past she has been an incompetent and of unsound mind, and that during that period has been the care and control of the defendants, John Mansfield and Anab E. Mansfield; that said defendants, with knowledge of the mental condition of said plaintiff, wrongfully and fraudulently obtained and converted to their own use large sums of money and other troperty belonging to beer; that of the moneys so obtained from and belonging to said plaintiff there is on deposit in the name of the affectment, Anch E. Mansfield, with the defendant, the Farmers' and Merchants' Baik, the sum of $18,881.92. Clearly where advantage is taken of a person of unsound mind to obtain from less money and property a court of equity will assume jurisdiction and will bald the leaves us so guilty of the fraud to be lavoundary relief which courts of culliv cuniary relief which courts of cullival cullings, and t

"The effect of an order sustaining a demurrer to a complaint, upon which a temporary injunction has been granted upon such injunction, is a question not discussed by counsel. In "High on Injunctions" it is said that in some States the rule is that a motion to dissolve a preliminary injunction will not be entertained until after the coming in of the answer denying the equities of the bill and that in those States where the rule is that a motion to dissolve such an injunction may be made at any stage of the cause, a motion interposed before answer is regarded as in the nature of a demurrer by which the defendant admits the truth of all of the allegations relied upon as foundation for the injunction. In Attorney. General vs. Marsh (16 Simons, 571.) It was held that where the plaintiff obtained a special injunction until answer or further order of the court and then amended by joining a co-plaintiff that the injunction was gone by the amendment. And in a note to said case it is said that a similar practice prevails in this country and that an injunction drops, of course, upon complainant amending his bill unless leave is granted to amend without prejudice to the injunction. See also Clark vs. Noblesville, (44 Indians, 83.) Such then would seem to be the rule, i.e., where a demurrer is sustained with leave granted to amend, the cause is still pending and an interlocutory injunction granted is not ipso facto dissolved. And such rule should apply to fortiori where as here the demurrer is sustained not because of want of equities in the bill but because of want of equities in the bill but because of want of equities in the bill but because of want of equities in the bill but because of want of equities in the significant of them. The demurrer is sustained upon two grounds last above stated (viz: ambiguity and misjoinder) with leave granted to amend. The motion to dissolve the restraining order is denied without prejudice to a renewal thereof."

BARNETT IDN'T PAY.

Dr. D. K. Wise is desirous of obtaining payment from A. W. Barrett for certain care and attention given under his direction to several horses belonging to the latter. Dr. Wise is a well-known horse fancier, and at his ranch at Wiseburn he has housed a number of good animals. He also furnished pasturage to his friends at a fixed monithly rate, and it is in this connection that his suit against A. W. Barrett has been brought.

In a complaint filed yesterday with the County Clerk, the doctor alleges that on February I, 1892, Barrett sent to his ranch a dark brown mare, agreeing to pay for her keeping at a reasonable rate. The mare having been kept until the present time and no money having been paid, the plaintiff asks for $156$ for pasturage. At the time the mare was sent out, Barrett also sent along a bay selding, which had been cared for and boarded. For this a reasonable compensation was thought to be $122$. In addition, to those sent bonable compensation was thought to be $132. In addition to those enu-merated, other services had been ren-dered which brought the charges up to $378, for which sum judgment is asked "To the Honorable Superior Court of Los Angeles County, Cal: Your petitioner respectfully represents and shows that he was born in the town of Hartsville, county of Barthobomew, State of Indiana, on May 8, 1857; that his true name is George William Christ; that his parents are both living in Hartsville, and that he is now, and has been since the year 1883, a resident in Los Angeles county; that he deserted from the army some time in 1883, and come here, and that in order to cover up his identity at the time of said desertion he assumed the name of George W. Cook, under which name he has since been known, and that he makes this application for restoration to him of his true name, George William Christ."

Beyrle, formerly of the contracting firm of Duvall, Mills & Co., to have a cerof Duval, Milks & Co., to have a certain settlement set aside and partnership dissolved. The allegations of the complaint in the case set forth that in July of last year the plaintiff became incapacitated for work, and left the management of the affairs of the firm in the hands of the defendants, agreeing that the sum of $11 per month should be taken from his share of the profits as compensation for any loss on account of his absence, and that on November 25 following the defendants came to him and asked for an immediate settlement of the affairs of the firm, tendering the sum of $336 as his share of the assets. Duvall accepted the money at the time, but now states that he was not then in condition to transact business, and in consequence asks that the settlement be set aside and a dissolution of partnership ordered.

The proposed ordinance does not require any board of plumbing and provides that plumbers shall register at the health office. It regulates cesspools and permits them to be located in places where they will not interfere with surrounding houses. Soil pipes are required to be of cast-iron not less than four inches in diameter.

Water closet apartments must be connected with the open air by means of a window or air shaft or duct. Tenement houses having apartments for more than one family must have a closet for each and a tank for each closet. Rain water conductors or cellar drains must not connect with soil or waste pipes except by a special permit of the Board of Health. The sizes of soil pipes for buildings of different heights are regulated. What is known as the intercepting slop-hopper is not required by the new ordinance.

LICENSE TAX.

The Merchants Will Not Press the Matter Before the City Council.

It is thought the Merchants' Association may not press its claims for the abandonment of the tax known as the merchants' license tax. It will be-remembered a communication from the Executive Committee of that or-be-remembered a communication from the Executive Committee of that organization was presented at the last meeting of the City Council, in which communication it was stated as having been understood between the Council and the association that the tax would be abandoned March 1.

Several of the Councilmen state that they believe there is justice in the request of the merchants and that the present system is virtually the taxing of a man for his enterprise.

Others of the Councilmen say that under the circumstances they cannot see how the tax can be removed before the next tax levy goes into effect. They state that inasmuch as no provision was made for such removal when the tax levy for the present year was fixed they cannot see how the tax can at present be removed.

There seems, however, to be a feeling that there will be no clash between the Council and the business men. The providing of work for the unemployed has been a heavy drain upon the city's finances so that there will be scarcely money enough to run the year out. With the tax removed the condition will be even more serious.

It is believed therefore that, inasmuch as the payment of the comparatively small tax is in reality giving the city money to provide work for those greatly in need of it, the merchants may be induced to quietly submit to the tax until the time for fixing the next tax levy when they may come before the Council and make some arrangement for the ensuing year.

Nothing has been heard as yet concerning the whereabouts of Al Reddell, the Southern Pacific brakeman who left his sick wife and departed for an unknown locality some weeks ago. It has been ascertained beyond a reasonable doubt that he passed through Tucson, Ariz, but there his trail is lost. Mrs. Reddell was at first assisted by the railroad men, and now that she has recovered from her illness she has moved over in the city, where she has secured work sufficient to comfortably maintain her. It turns out that Reddell not only went through all his wife's property and contracted considerable outside debts, but also carried away papers of value to Mrs. Reddell, as showing her interest in some land in the northern part of the State, and, furthermore, destroyed her marriage certificate, fragments of the latter being found in an outhouse a fortnight after his disappearance.

The East Side Social Club gave a pleasant hop at Banquet Hall on Tuesday evening. The attendance was not large but the excellence of the floor and music made up for the deficiency in numbers, the affair being described by those present as the most enjoyable party held since the holidays.

The market remains quiet, with the exception of hog products, which are firm, with a lower tendency. The Cudahy Packing Company finds its commodious quarters too crowded for its extensive transactions, and has purchased an L-shaped piece of ground of eleven and one-half acres, adjoining their packing-house and extending back to Macy street, on which men are now at work erecting a large warehouse. The local branch finds a good demand for its special branch finds a good demand for its special branch finds a good demand for its special branch of bacon backs, and has shipped several carloads recently to San Francisco and Sacramento.

New York share speculation was stagnant during the greater part of the day. A drive was made on Western Union, based on the report that the next quarterly statement will show a decrease in earnings. The Hearing Still in Progress Before th Federal Court at Milwaukee-An Affecting Scene - Raifroad News.

DENVER, Feb. 7 .- (By the Associated Press.) Argument on the petition of Receiver Trumbull for an order to compel the Union Pacific receivers to keep their traffic agreement with the Gulf system and that part of this agreement requiring them to pay six months' interest on the Gulf-line bonds, was concluded today before Judges Hallett and River, in the United States Court. The case was taken under adcourt. The case was taken under advisement. THE TELEGRAPHERS POSITION. VINTON (Iowa,) Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) D. G. Ramsay, grand chief of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, left this evening for Milwaukee to meet the Northern Pacific receivers in a general conference on the wages question. Ramsay says that there is no truth in the report that the telegraphers have made an agreement with the receivers; that his organization will act with the others and acquiesce in whatever is done by the federation.

WILL BE NO STRIKE,

MILWAUKEE Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press, 1987)

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) Eugene Debs, president of the American Railway Union, a dent of the American Railway Union, a new railway labor organization, stronger on the Union Pacific than on any other system, left last night for Omaha where a conference of the officers of the order will be held with regard to the Union Pacific's new wage schedule. Debs says that there will probably be a convention at Ogden of delegates from the different points on the system. He does not look for a strike on the Union Pacific or Northern Pacific chiefly because so many men are out of work. He places the number of idle firemen who belong to the Brotherhood at 3000. This would indicate more than 5000 are out of work, including non-brotherhood firemen.

NORTHERN PACIFIC HEARING. MILWAUKEE, Feb. 7.—(By the Associated Press.) In the Northern Pasociated Press.) In the Northern Pacific hearing today the affidavit of President Ralston of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company of New York was read in which he denies all allegations in the Ives petition as relating to him and explains the methods of the Finance Committee of the Northern Pacific. Ex-Senator S. Spooner then began argument in favor of the receivers which is still in progress. The plea was so strong and touching that Oakes broke down and wept freely in court.

HIS TROUBLES OVER. Death of John Todt from a Hemorrhage of The angelus was ringing out from the belfry of the Cathedral, on Main street, yesterday morning as a Times reporter rounded the corner of San and occupied chiefly by mechanics and laborers.

Room No. 63 of this house faces San Pedro street and is on a level with the street, and is occupied by E. Timerman, a watchmaker and jeweler, in a small way. In the dim light of morning the reporter perceived what he took to be a drunken man lying on the porch, and was passing on, when something in the rigid outline of the figure made him pause, and, stepping over, he placed his fingers on the outstretched wrist of a corpse.

In response to inquiries Mr. Orth stated that the man had been rooming with him for some three months, and had only worked three days in that time, and was in arrears for rent. His name was John Todt, a native of Schleswig-Holstein, and, as far as he knew, was an upholsterer by trade. Mr. Orth supposed that he had been taken with hemorrhage in the early merning, and had endeavored to reach Timmerman's room, and had fallen dead—he being far gone in consumption.

dead—he being far gone in consumption.

Peter Miller, who keeps the Cape Horn saloon on Upper Main street, stated that he had known the deceased for over four years. He came from San Francisco with his wife, who was a dressmaker, and two children, and had lived a long time on the corner of Main and Alpine streets. He failed to support his wife, and some time ago she left him and went to her brotherin-law, a man named Walsh, who lives in Monterey.

The body was removed to Sharp's undertaking establishment on Spring street, and an inquest held, and a verdict rendered in accordance with the facts.

BURBANK THEATER.-Faust

CALIFORNIA AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Information which has been received from Chicago in regard to the awards from Chicago in regard to the awards that have been made to exhibitors at the World's Fair is most encouraging, not to say flattering to California. John Boyd Thatcher reports that 250. 000 separate exhibits were examined and reported on at Chicago. Excluding Prance, Norway and individual exhibitors who withdrew from examination was a total record of 65,422 indi vidual exhibitors at the exposition Awards were made to 21,000 exhibitors but from the fact of their representa-tion in a number of instances in more than one group, these exhibitors re-ceived 23,757 awards. For instance, John Doe of San Francisco, a machinist, might make an exhibit of his machinery and secure an award thereon; he might also own a grain and fruit farm and from his products displayed might secure an award in both the agriultural and horticultural departments making three awards to one exhibitor.

According to the act passed by Con an authorization was made pro viding for a number not to exceed 50,000 medals. These medals will all b of bronze, exactly uniform in size and of equal value. When, therefore, an exhibitor who has received an award states that he received the highest award or, as is frequently stated, the first prize at the exposition, he is, unconsciously, perhaps, making a misstatement. Every successful exhibitor in California and other States and countries will receive one medal.

A summing up of the correspondence etween the office of the State Comnission and the Bureau of Awards, to gether with such lists as were procured from Mr. Thatcher's office before Chicago, shows that awards to Califor nia exhibitors will stand about as follows: Department of Horticulture, 74 individual exhibitors, representing probably 100 awards; Department of culture. 46 awards to individual exhibitors, representing possibly 60 or 70 successful exhibits. Judged by the information now at hand, California will now receive as many awards for her wines as all other States in the Union combined. There are 17 awards in flori-culture to California exhibitors; 6 awards in the Transportation Department, representing 10 successful exhibits. In the Department of Agriculture 39 awards were granted to exhibitors throughout the State, representing possibly 50 successful exhibits.

Taken altogether, this is certainly a remarkable showing for a State which forty years ago was regarded as a des-ert and whose only exports consisted ert and whose only of hides and tallow.

A PLEA FOR A PARK.

At the rate things are now going on, there will soon be an end to the relief the city is now giving the unemployed. Applications have been piling in until now there are considerably more than three hundred men waiting for a chance to work, while about four we are to continue to give employment to those people who want it, we shall have to adopt some plan similar to that which was introduced in San Francisco, where a number of public-spirited citisubscribed a large amount of employment in Golden Gate Park at the rate of $1 a day. Between fifteen hundred and two thousand men have been kept steadily at work there for everal weeks.

This leads up to the remark that should anything of this sort be under taken in Los Angeles, we ought not to fritter the money away in a dozen different directions, where, perhaps, in some cases the results would be lost sight of after the first heavy rainstorm and in others, would be of doubtful value to the community at large, but to concentrate the labor of the men employed upon some work of general permanently as a monument of the double good thus accomplished in givork to the unemployed.

There is an opening in Los Angeles in this direction very similar in character to the work upon which the un-employed are engaged in San Francisco. We refer to the Elysian Park, which; as some of our citizens are not aware is located in the northwest portion of Los Angeles city. The people of San Francisco are justly proud of their Golden Gate Park, where millions of dellars have been spent in turning a s. Here, within the city limits Angeles, there are hundreds of acres devoted to park purposes, which, by the expenditure of one-tenth of the e and beautiful park in the United States, and yet there are actually hun-dreds of people in Los Angeles who have lived here for a number of years and do not know where Elysian Park is. Such being the case it is no wonthat the authorities do not show much inclination to spend money improvement on this park, but much inclination to spend money for improvement on this park, but are rather inclined to put it where it will do the most good, that is to say, in the neighborhood of those localities where the most people are located who have money and influence. This may be all well enough in its way, but we now have done sufficient to ornament little squares and open places. What we now want is a good, large breathing place for the people, where they can

A dramatic and musical entertain ment was given at Glendale on Tues lay evening last, for the benefit o day evening last, for the benefit of the building fund of the Glendale Episcopal Church. The piece selected for representation was the larce "Bamboozling." Before the curtain rose, E. Parker, Mr. and Mrs. Blish and Messrs. Eley, Whittaker and Bond, all prominent residents of Glendale and vicinity favored the audience with, songs and recitations, which were warmly received. Mr. Whittaker sang "By the Blue Alsatian Mountains," and although the song is almost as old as the mountains themselves, the manner with which it was rendered was highly apreciated. The farce was a success—and deservingly, so. All of the party were well emeritained. Miss Mary O. Bell, as Emily, and R. Steinburg, as Capt. Bamboozle, deserve special mention, Mr. Ely acted as master of ceremonies, and the success of the entertainment will probably lead to other dramatic representations in the near future.

How the Battle Stands Up to Date.

American Protective Association vs. the Church of Rome.

Close of a Short, Sharp, Stand-up Polemical Engagement.

Each Side Has Had a Fair Field and ar Even Chance-It is a Question of Patriotism More Than

This is the eleventh day of the pending controversy, through the columns of The Times, between the Roman Catholic church and the American Protective Association; and, in accordance with previous editorial notice, the discussion is now closed. The disturbance was begun by the Rev. J. W. Hickey, C.M., who, in a lecture at the Cathe dral on the night of January 28, made an oratorical assault on the A.P.A. A lengthy synopsis of the priest's speech, prepared by himself, was published, by his request, in The Times of the following morning; then the trouble began, and the oratorical sons of thunder have been making the welkin ring, so to speak, ever since. Both sides of the controversy have fully presented in thirty or forty col-umns of this journal, most of the leters sent in having been printed. Some that did not properly appertain to the discussion have been rejected, and a number of others were thrown out for sufficient reasons. Several of these sufficient reasons. Several of these were anonymous.

The following persons have participated in the discussion on the Catholic side: Rev. J. W. Hickey, C.M.; John Hamilton, W. C. Petchner, P. H. Maloney, J. R. Sheehan, Grace O'Neill, Joseph J. Canfield, A. H. Healy, Thomas Deere and D. A. Spence.

Thomas Deere and D. A. Spence.

The opposing side has been championed by the following correspondents and others: H. L. Rawlins, "Careful Reader," Mrs. A. N. Lawrence, James P. Elton, Edward S. Allen, N. Sleppy, J. M. Glen, E. Andross, William E. Little, D. Raylin, (lecture), Lohn, Annual Laboratory, Laborat tle, D. Ravlin (lecture,) John Arm-strong, E. C. Urb, J. Q. Adams, Frank Allien and Horace.

The Roman Catholics opened the discussion; their antagonists close it. Not all of the correspondents on the A.P.A. however, are members of that order.

The result will be judged by the different readers, each reading for himself by his own standard and in the light of his own intelligence, judgment, sympathies and prejudices.

The closing arguments follow:

THE ROMANIST SIDE. A Denial of the Charge of Desertions

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times.) The following statement was made in Tuesday's Times by an A.P.A.: "Of 144,000 Catholics who enlisted during the war, 104,-000 deserted. The desertions began after the Pope had recognized the Confederacy." (Which he never did.)
Please publish this with the following clipping. Respectfully.
D. A. SPENCE.

The clipping is a printed copy of a letter from Col. F. A. Alnsworth, chief of the Record and Pension Office, War Department, dated December 16, 1893. The essential statement in the letter is the following:

"As a matter of fact, the number of soldiers of any given nativity or religious persuasion in service during the late war is not known, and consequently it is not possible for this or any other department to make even an approximately correct statement of the percentage of deserters belonging to any particular religious denomination."

almost on their arrival, of the political franchise has done not a little to corrupt politics and to lower the standard of our civilization."

You say you are a good American. If, so, how can you support the Pope in his claims to temporal power? Christ did not have it and did not want it. I am not an A.P.A. yet, but may become one. I am told that eighty new members joined last week. There is not much the matter with them.

history will prove the truth of the statement.

In 1888 the Irish National Land League had adopted a political policy known as boyociting. The avowed object of carrying out this policy was to force Ireland's oppressors to grant her home rule. By means of this political policy the unfortunate people were making their power felt as it has never been felt before or since.

Suddenly the voice of Rome thundered. The Pope commanded the Irish bishops to command the priests to refuse to "grant absolution" (forgivenness of sine) to individuals who were addive members of any organization carrying on boyociting.

It is not likely that he would be guilty of exaggeration and he gives the number at 100,000. De Thou says that "the very streets and passages resounded with the groans of the dying and of those who were about to be murdered and the blood flowed down the channels in such torrents that it seemed to empty itself into the river." The day has been rendered infamous in history in consequence of the massacre and shall forever remain a foul blot on the history of your despotic church.

In your extensive perusal of history you have no doubt come across the history of the Inquisition, or "The Holy Office," as they used to call it. If you have not the books at home you will get them at the library, and when you are there look at Orestes Brawnson's writings, the distinguished American convert from Puritanism to Rome. He says that it is "not too much to say that the great influx of Catholic peasantry of different European states into this country and the conferring on them. And yet they manage somehow to keep themselves constantly and conspicuously before the public mind; and both press and the people of this country seem quite ready to afford them the opportunity for advertising themselves without expense. That the Protestant world is not a little responsible for the coolest and most constant of their assumptions cannot be doubted. They chose their own name when they inserted—into the old ecumenical creed of the church the word Roman, as the definition of themselves, and they thereby declared themselves schismatic, as well as heretical, by the addition of new articles to the faith. But it has suited them to ignore this. And people have fallen into the trap by letting themselves and be called and known as "Catholics;" when they are, by their own designation and in their whole condition and spirit, absolutely Roman. In their own place and way they are an important factor in the preservation of the peace and order of the country. The Truth of History—Beware of a Romish Political Propagands.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 7, 1894.—(To the Editor of The Times.) Permit me on this, the last day that your columns are open to the discussion, to add a few words on the subject of the impending conflict between the American Protective Association and the Church of Rome. All friends of liberty and enlightenment owe a debt of gratitude to The Times for the courageous manner in which it has permitted a full and free discussion of this generally "tabooed" subject in its columns. Every newspaper reader must have noted how papers which open their columns to the discussion of matters pertaining to every possible subject of mundane interest invariably come to a full stop when the subject of the Church of Rome is approached. It is argued by some that this is a religious question and, as such, is not proper to be discussed in a secular paper. Others claim that this discussion is an outbreak of bigotry against the religious opinions of a large number of our fellow-citizens. It requires but a very brief, dispassionate consideration of these views are well founded. which it expects to conquer. The Pope, the head of the church, which for centuries has ensiaved the souls, fettered the minds and tortured the bodies of men, has all at once become a convert to the beauties of democracy, and has gone out of his way to express his admiration for our free form of government in several public speeches. Meantime the black-robed privates of the papal army in this country, following the behests of their commander-inchief, are sedulously striving to destroy the American system of unsectarian public schools—the system upon which, as they know full well, depends the continuance of this republic as a free and independent nation. At the same time the wealth of the church is increasing from the estates of every rich Catholic who dies, and they are thus furnished with the means of wielding great political power, a power which they never fail to avail themselves of when they get a chance.

I do not believe, as a rule, in secret organizations. Here, especially, where we enjoy the blessings of free thought, free speech and the same to band together in secret for the purpose of inaugurating what they believe to be a needed reform. This, however, is in many respects an exceptional case. The Church of Rome is itself essentially a secret society. It works in the dark, With its ramifications extending over the entire surface of the globe, with its immense wealth, with its well-drilled army, the members of which blindly and implicitly obey their foreign leader, and who are all ready to believe that anything, even perjury, is lawful, so that it inures to the benefit of the church, it is an enemy the power of which can scarcely be estimated, and for that reason I say that it is excusable for these American citizens to band together and fight the devil with fire.

Finally let it, be understod that the A.P.A. and those who, while not belonging to the organization, sympathize with its objects, are not attacking the religious faith of Roman Catholic American citizens, but the political ambition and pretensions of the Roman church.

DR. MILLER'S CASE

It Has Been Dismissed by Justice Austin.

The Story of Mrs. Furniss as Told in Court.

Nothing to Show That She Was Improperly Treated.

Admitted That She Was Desperate, Ending of a Peculiar.

Dr. R. W. Miller, an oculist, appeared fore Police Justice Austin yesterday afternoon with his counsel, Messrs McLachian and Waterman, for fish, upon the charge of battery prefarred against him by Mrs. Lena Furniss; one his patients, who resides at No. 0 South Olive street.

The complainant, a sprightly and voluble Biglishwoman, who was the only witness for the prosecution, testified to the effect that on the afternoon of Jamary 31 last she visited the defendent at his office in the Stimson buildant at ms office in the stimson building for the purpose of having her eyesight tested. While she was sitting in the operating chair Dr., Miller applied some solution to her right eye, causing excruciating pain. Fearing that she was losing her sight she cried, out:
"Great God doctor, you're destroyed "Great God, doctor, you've destroyed my eye!" and the defendant, after glancing at the bottle from which he had taken the solution hurriedly dashed vater into her eye and did everything

After she had bathed her injured eye without effect, the burning sensation still continuting, she demanded the name of the acid Miller had used and announced her intention of going to another doctor for an antidote. The lant, however, refused to tell her and she thereupon grabbed a bottle in each hand and rushed from the room.

defendant, however, refused to tell her and she thereupon grabbed a bottle in each hand and rushed from the room. Miller having locked the door which opened into the hall, she ran into an adjoining room, occupied by another physician, who, hearing Miller, shout; "Stop that woman," grasped her around the walst and held her. The defendant then pounced upon her and dragged her over to a lounge, threw her upon it and took the bottles from her by main force, with the assistance of his associate. In the struggle her hat was battered, the sleeves torn out of her dres, her veil rent and she was severely bruised.

Upon cross-examination Mrs. Furniss worked herself up to a pitch of excitement almost equivalent to that which she must have experienced at the time of the occurrence she was relating. She stated that she was recommended to Miller by her husband's physician, Dr. Davisson, who told her that he was a good oculist. Although she had no trouble with her eyes, she was advised by Dr. Davisson to change the glasses she had worn for eight years for stronger ones, as her sight grew older with her increasing age. When Miller examined her eyes, upon her first visit, he told her that the right eye was slightly inflamed, and treated her for it. He also removed some of her eyelashes. Thinking that Miller was just putting her off in order to make more money out of her, she told him upon her third visit, the occasion upon which the alleged battery was committed, that she could not afford to keep coming, as she had no money to spare, and that her husband wanted him to test her sight for new glasses at this visit. At first Miller said-that he could not do: it, as he had an appointment with a male patient, but when she insisted he asked her to wait for fifteen minutes, and promised to do as she wished.

When she sat down in the operating chair, Miller said: "Now let me toked up the eyelid a little." and applied the wrong solution and done all he could to relieve her pain, Adding tellumphantly: "He got the bottles; but it.

gle that ensued, after the defendant had acknowledged that he had applied the wrong solution and done all he could to relieve her pain, adding triumphantly: "He got the pottles, but I got the label." She admitted that Miller had offered to take her to another doctor—after the accident, and that she had refused his offer. She also admitted that she was desperate at the time she essayed to escape from the office with the bottles in her hands, but stoutly maintained that she knew what she was doing all the time.

At the close of Mrs. Furniss' testimony, counsel for the defendant moved the court for a dismissal of the case on the ground of the insufficiency of the evidence, and the Prosecuting Attorney offering no opposition to the motion, the court held that the charge of battery had not been sustained, and therefore discharged the defendant, much to Mrs. Furniss' disgust. As the parties left the courtroom that irate lady, with more vigor than dignity, announced her intention of suing Dr. Miller Tor damages.

THE LENTEN SEASON.

The Forty Days' Surcease from Worldly Pleasures.

Beginning with yesterday was in-augurated the annual dressmakers' holiday—Lent. Society has discarded augurated the annual dressmakers' holiday—Lent. Society has discarded its; worldly ways, laid aside its swell gowns, and figuratively donned the sackcloth and ashes, in which garb it will continue for the next forty days. The debutantes have given up their usual pastimes, and have started to do a little thinking. The "intermediates" and young matrons are ruminating on what they will deny themselves, while the men are non-committal, remembering their disregarded "swear-offs" of the first of the year.

To many the Lenten season is really a welcome one as it affords them a breathing spell after a twelve-months' hobnobbing with the world, the flesh, and the devil, while others chafe under the restrictions and long for frivolity. Regarded as a business proposition Lent is a success. It gives people a chance to economize, and adopt "retrenchment" as their watchword.

Originally the period began on what is now the first Sunday in Lent, but it being found that, when Sundays, as improper for fasting, were omitted there remained only thirty-six days, the period was made by Pope Gregory to commence four days earlier; namely, on what has since been called Ash Wednesday. Among the ancient customs of England, during this season, which have sunk into disuse, was a singularly absurd one; continued even to so late a period as the reign of George I.
During the Lenten season an officer salled the "King's Cock Crower."

precincts of the palace, instead of proclaiming it in the ordinary manner of

Following is the weather and crop bulletin of the Southern California weather service for the week ending February 5:

The weather during the past week was generally fair with the temperature continuing to range below the seasonal averages. Light rains fell Tuesday and Wednesday, which helped vegetation considerably, but they were not sufficiently heavy to cause a lasting benefit; graip is growing slowly, warm weather and good soaking rains are needed.

In some of the districts oranges are ripening slowly in others they are being picked and shipped quite freely. Detailed reports follow:

San Luis Obispo—The weather has been favorable for crops; south winds prevailed, with a few clouds, but no rain. Vegetables are plentiful and cheap.

Ventura county—Bardsdale: Cool weather continues; the prospect for rain is increasing. Barley is about all sown, but is not coming up well for lack of rain.

Los Angeles county—Compton: The nights have been cool; several light showers, amounting to ½ inch, occurred. A large acreage has been sown to barley. Warm weather and rain is needed. Verdugo: One-twentieth of an inch of rain fell the past week. Frosty mights continue. Oranges are ripening slowly; no shipments have yet been made. A large acreage has been sown to barley. Duarte: The light rain of January 31 has kept the top of the ground moist, and hay and grain are growing nicely. Rainfall for the season, 7.59 inches.

San Bernardino county—Ontario: Ice formed twice within the past week, and the shipments to date exceed those of last year. Ghino: Beet seed for this year's planting has arrived from France, and the preparation of the ground for sugar-beet planting continues. Rain is needed.

South Riverside: The rainfall for January amounted to .60 inch, making the total for the season 4.40 inches.

Orange county—Anaheim: The weather has been partly cloudy and the indications are favorable for an early rain, which at present is very much needed. Early-sown grain looks thrifty, and an abnormal yield is anticipated. Santa Ana: Rai crops.

San Diego county—Escondido: The parties of t San Diego county—Escondido: The high average temperature of the past week accelerated the growth of vegetation, but everything is still backward, grain being much slower in growth than at this time last year. Bernardo: Grain is growing slowly and will continue to do so until rain falls. Valley Center: Dry weather is retarding the growth of vegetation. The prospect is for an old-fashioned dry year.

Gov. Triechel's Condition Improved-General

The Street-numbering System Touched Up-I. O. G. T. Installation—Cash Contri-butions for Sweet Charity's Sake-Personal Notes.

Brief reference was made yesterday to the Board of Trade meeting held Tuesday afternoon. The principal matter of importance that was acted upon was a petition to have called a public meeting consider the advisability of improving the streets in this city and in North Pasadena, by joint action on the part of the local and the county authorities, to the end that there be at least one first-class thoroughfare leading from Pasadena to North Pasadena, Altadena, and the mountains beyond. The petition was signed by Capt. C. M. Simpson, J. T. Martin, M. E. Wood, M. D. Painter, W. D. McGilvray, George D. Rowan, W. S. Holland, Milford Fish, Lyman Allen, C. W. Buchanan, Byron Lisk, J. R. Greer, Jr., C. C. Thompson and others.

r., C. C. Thompson and others. It was decided to call a meeting for 3 Saturday afternoon. The o'clock Saturday afternoon. The idea seems to prevail that a large amount of public improvements in the line of street work could be accomplished at the present time at a nominal cost by utilizing the score or more of unemployed men who are being entertained at the city's expense. The subject is worthy of consideration, and should attract a large attendance.

VERY MUCH TO THE POINT. Trade, the Los Angeles publication edited by J. W. Wood of this city, touches up the system of street numbering in vogue here in the following lively fashion: "Pasadena has a system of street numbers all its own. We cannot say bad things about that classic city without pangs of remorae, but when we wander about the busy the street number of numbers all its own. He had been about the constitution of numbers of the street number of numbers that stare us in the face, we regret that some kind and helping providence didn't embalm the massive brains that devised that soul-harrowing system ere they perpetrated it upon a confiding and unsuspecting public. It is enough to give the fatherly Sunday-school superintendent a remorseful pang, if he perchance—being a stranger, should endeavor to solve the knotty problem of discovering any given address within the business center, upon the usual rule of progressive numbers. Let us say he beginning is the No. 3. Across the way he discovers, in large and appetizing numbers, the figures 8½. In close proximity smiles 24, as if it had a right there. Maybe it has, but why, oh, why does the picturesque 40 loom upon a postively as its almost next door offender? On one side, in a modest and low-priced plumbers window a halting 18 greets the gaze, and directly opposite on the front of the glittering chemist's emporium, is the protesting sign 44! And so on, until the bewildered stranger is lost in a condition of hopeless and helpies in a modest and the protesting sign 44. And so on, until the bewildered stranger is lost in a condition of hopeless and helpies is satisfaction in knowing that some of that guilty Council were elected upon a prohibition ticket, and the Engineer has sought the wilderness of Oregon, where he is, we trust, even now doing penance for his soulless crime."

The Council on the Tramp Question—General News Notes.

The City Council made a pass at the tramp problem Tuesday night, but brushed the matter to one side after expressing the wish that all the tramps were in some warmer country. The Associated Charities had requested John Wasson to appear before the Council and ask some assistance, as the free soup house was about to go up the flume for want of funds. The Councilmen could not see their way clear to help matters in that line, and asserted that if the people of Pomona would save for their own poor, it would be enough. It is likely the soup house will be discontinued in a few days.

The matter of the purchase of fourteen and three-quarter acres of land at San Jose hills for park purposes was disposed of by instructing City Attorney Beft to draw up a resolution accepting the deed, unlimited certificate and dedication of streets from the Pomona Land and Water Company.

HE. WAS CANED.

Deputy District Attorney Frank Moody was caned Wednesday morning in open court in a manner that will long be remembered by him. The fact that Mr. Moody proposed leaving Santa Ana that day for Willows, Glenn county, this state, where he expects to make his future home and follow the practice of his profession, is what prompted his many friends of the bar to present him, the youngest member of the Orange county bar, with a token of their respect.

After the opening of court in the usual manner, Judge Towner stated that he understood that one of the youngest, if not the youngest member of the Orange county bar, Mr. Moody, contemplated leaving Santa Ana and going to a younger town and county; that in this connection he believed there was an exparte motion to be made.

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY. Dreyfus vs. the City-Brevities of General

When the late Isador Dreyfus was in Santa Barbara previous to his visit to Europe, a journey which proved to be his last, he had been approached on the subject of deeding to the city a hundred feet of a block which adjoins the been and forms part of the the beach and forms part of the hundred feet of a block which adjoins the beach and forms part of the Dreyfus estate.

This strip of land was required for the continuation of the boulevard then in projection and the deceased agreed verbally to make the gift, providing the city graveled the adjoining fand sufficiently to provide drainage and prevent the collection of water. On teach of isates Dreyfus, Louis G. Dreyfus, the sole executor, hastened to Europe, and during his absence the boulevard was got in hand, and the strip of land used on the strength of this verbal assent. Louis G. Dreyfus, on his return from Europe, found that the arection of the boulevard above the level of the lot, created a small lake, and that no adequate provision had been made for drainage. He petitioned the Council to have the adjacent land drained and graded, declining to sign any deed of gift until this was fone. This the Supervisors refused, claiming that the boulevard was an improvement and not a damage. Hence this suit, brough in the name of Alphonsine Dreyfus. The case was called for trial in the Superior Court Monday morning, and submitted to a jury, drawn mostly from outside the City. Tuesday afternoon the case was cargued. A verdict will probably be given today.
